European Language Centre → Professional and personal approach

Everyone who wants to learn a language has a story to tell

That's why we would like to meet you!

Have you been relocated to The Netherlands? Are you getting a new job with a Dutch company? Is the amount of contact you have with Dutch colleagues increasing? Maybe you are about to become the manager of a Dutch speaking department. You might even want to approach a new client in Dutch.

As there are so many different motives for learning Dutch, we will ask you many questions during our first meeting:

Why do you want to learn Dutch? Do you have any previous knowledge of the language? How much time can you free up for the language programme and what pace would you prefer?

The next step consists of an extensive intake. We test your current knowledge and define your learning style. During the intake we also discuss your personal wishes and aims. This forms the basis of your language programme.

After this, we propose a language programme that is most effective for you.

Every language programme is unique

Learning a language is a unique process, different for every individual.

For that reason, we have developed programmes in which your personal aims and your learning style are at the core. We take your budget into account, as well as the time you have available.

If you are a beginner, the ELC Language Path (page 3) will probably suit you. The Language Path begins with the Preparatory Language Programme. As soon as you have a good basic knowledge of Dutch, you can continue with the Intensive Language Programme (page 2).

Do you already have some knowledge?

If so, you can start directly with the Intensive Language Programme (page 2) of one or more weeks.

To maintain and expand your existing knowledge, we have the option of the Follow-up Language Programme (page 3).

The Tailor-made Language Programme (page 4) suits every level and every need.

The duration of this language programme and the contents of the lessons are determined in close consultation with you. Furthermore, you personally decide the pace of the language programme.

The In-company Language Programme (page 5) can be followed in your company.

The ELC Language Path

→ A unique combination

A complete programme which, in a matter of a few weeks or months, will enable you to communicate in the Dutch language

Extensive and complete

The ELC Language Path is an individual programme which consists of 4 modules that can be followed in different combinations. The Intake and the Preparatory Language Programme (private lessons in the Amsterdam region) is followed by the Intensive Language Programme (Belgium) and the Follow-up Language Programme (private lessons in the Amsterdam region). You can plan the individual modules according to your own preference. You can adapt the pace to your needs and aims. In this way, you will reach your own goals at your own pace and in a very flexible way.

The design of the Language Path with regard to speed, aims and content will be determined by you and us during the Intake in Amsterdam. You can start whenever you wish. This programme is especially suitable for beginners and for students who wish to acquire knowledge in a thorough way. This is done in a relatively short time span and with a long-lasting effect.

The Intensive Language Programme module is organised together with our partners, among others the renowned institute CERAN LINGUA.

The Tailor-made Language Programme consists of private lessons that enable you to learn Dutch in the most individual and personal way possible. At the beginning of this programme, there is always an extensive intake session. In this meeting, we discuss your expectations, your work situation and your preference regarding the course dates. Furthermore, your existing knowledge of Dutch is determined. Together we develop a plan for your language programme, adapted to your wishes.

This programme is also very suitable for the further development of a special part of your knowledge of Dutch; for example, improving your writing skills or giving presentations.

How and when?

You can follow private lessons on days and at times which are most convenient for you. Lessons can take place at the institute, at your office or your home (Amsterdam region). You can start any time.

Language and culture

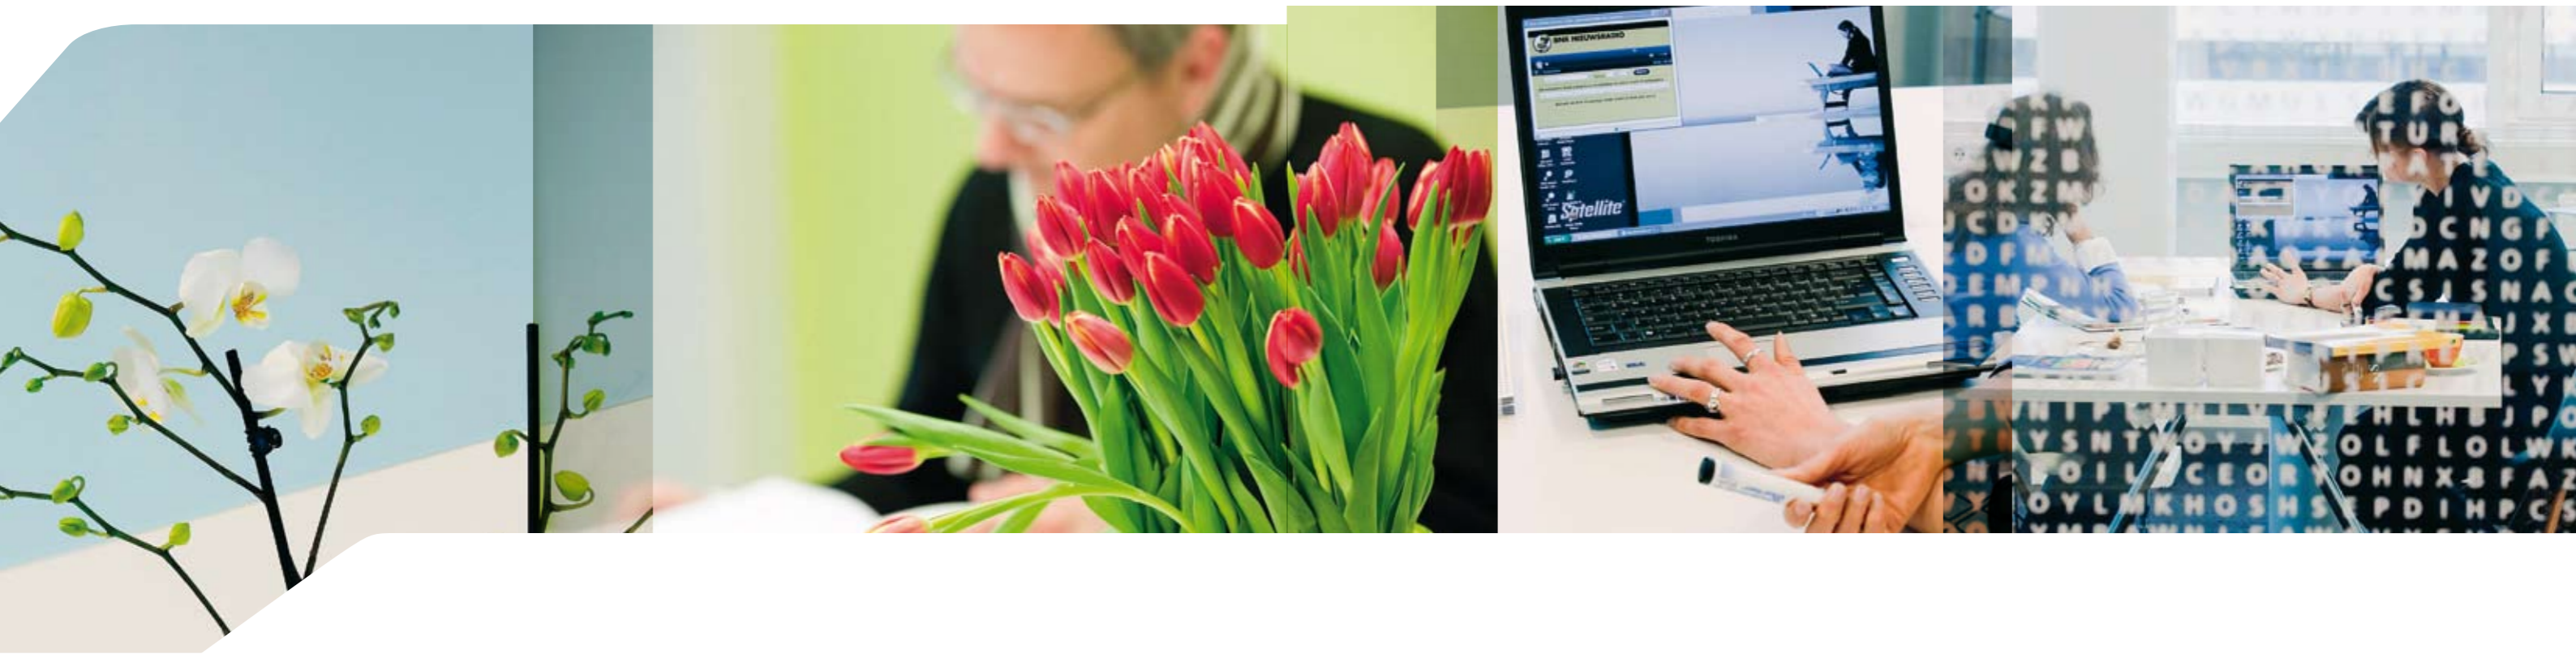

The Netherlands is a country with one of the most international workforces in the world. Our in-company language programmes enable employees from different cultural backgrounds to better integrate into their working environment. The in-company programmes will also contribute to an improved knowledge of the language used at work. We develop language programmes which are especially tailored to the needs of your company and your staff - regardless of the size of the organisation. Over the years, we have gained experience in conducting in-company programmes for a wide variety of clients, collaborating closely with the human resources departments. In this way, we make the language programmes fit the personnel development plans within your company.

Group lessons and private lessons

The In-company Language Programme can be arranged to take place at your company or in other locations if that is more suitable. We can organise programmes for several people (one group) or several groups (with different requirements) as well as for individuals. Groups are always small (not more than 5 participants) to guarantee maximum success for every participant.

How and when?

An in-company language programme is preceded by thorough preparation. All students are tested individually to determine their knowledge and aims. On the basis of this, the groups are composed. We determine the total path together with you. The programmes can start whenever you wish and are suitable for all levels.

This is what we think about learning a language

- Learning a language should be enjoyable. If you begin to like learning the language, then your self-confidence and the result of your language programme will improve automatically.
- A language only comes alive while communicating with others.
- When you are ready to engage in conversation with your foreign contact and he or she is able to understand you, then we have done our job well.
- You can only learn a language from professional trainers originating from a country whose language you are learning. They master every aspect of the language and have in-depth knowledge of the culture and customs.
